

THE UNIVERSE FULLY SUPPORTS MY PLANS AND ASPIRATIONS

I have big plans and aspirations, and I am confident in my future success. The Universe has my back in everything I do.

When I set my attention on a goal and take the necessary steps, things work out for me. It is as if an invisible force is always acting in my best interest. I am grateful for the hidden support I receive.

I am a lucky person. Good things just seem to happen to me. I am blessed.

I am comfortable that I am following the right path for me. My plans and aspirations are aligned with my values, natural talents, and interests. My plans for the future are ethical and proper. I am free of concern and hesitation.

I am fully committed to achieving my goals and take steps each day to be successful.

My friends and family support me, too. I am so lucky to have so many loving, supportive, and enthusiastic people in my life. It feels like everyone and everything is on my side. I am fully supported.

Today, I am facing the world with the knowledge that my plans and aspirations are supported by the Universe. I am confident that I am walking the best path for me. Everything is going my way.

REFLECTION QUESTIONS

1

How can I align my plans and aspirations with my values and talents?

2

What steps can I take each day to work toward my goals?

3

How can I remain confident and trust that the Universe supports my journey?