

THE OBJECTS OF MY DESIRE ARE ALREADY WITHIN MY REACH

The objects of my desire are already within my reach, for I possess the power of manifestation.

Believing in myself is an invaluable asset that fuels my potential. I am aware of my capabilities, and I acknowledge that I am worthy of all that is good.

My potential is undeniable, and it takes the lead in all of my successful experiences. I rely on my innate drive and abilities to add value to any opportunity that presents itself to me. I am confident in my ability to win.

When I decide to make a career change, I solemnly commit to a job that ignites my passion. I pursue work that satisfies me emotionally and spiritually, and I pour my heart and soul into making it a reality.

I am confident in my technical skills, so I know I am fully equipped for any job I pursue. I utilize my charisma to position myself for the job, and I am certain that it is just a matter of time before it is mine.

Hard work always reaps the rewards, and so do pure intentions. These qualities make me a top candidate for any opportunity that I choose to chase.

My faith assures me that my efforts will be rewarded in due time. I have confidence in the universe's timing, and I know that things always work out for the best.

Today, reaping what I sow is a reality in my life. I hold the pen to my own story, and the power of my actions dictates the outcome. I lay claim to all the goodness that I seek because I know that I deserve of it.

REFLECTION QUESTIONS

1

What fuels my self-confidence?

2

How do I react when I miss out on an opportunity that I was anticipating?

3

What role does timing play in decision-making?